(Superior Court, Court of Appeal, Appellate Division)

GENERAL INFORMATION

1 What does this information sheet cover?

This information sheet tells you about appeals in limited civil cases. These are civil cases in which the amount of money claimed is $35,000 or less.

If you are the party who is appealing (asking for the trial court's decision to be reviewed), you are called the APPELLANT, and you should read Information for the Appellant, starting on page 2. If you received notice that another party in your case is appealing, you are called the RESPONDENT and you should read Information for the Respondent, starting on page 11.

This information sheet does not cover everything you may need to know about appeals in limited civil cases. It is meant only to give you a general idea of the appeal process. To learn more, you should read rules 8.800–8.843 and 8.880–8.891 of the California Rules of Court, which set out the procedures for limited civil appeals. You can get these rules at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/rules.

2 What is an appeal?

An appeal is a request to a higher court to review a decision made by a judge or jury in a lower court. In a limited civil case, the court hearing the appeal is the appellate division of the superior court and the lower court—called the “trial court” in this information sheet—is the superior court.

It is important to understand that an appeal is NOT a new trial. The appellate division will not consider new evidence, such as the testimony of new witnesses or new exhibits. The appellate division's job is to review a record of what happened in the trial court and the trial court's decision to see if certain kinds of legal errors were made:

For information about appeal procedures in other kinds of cases, see:

- Information on Appeal Procedures for Unlimited Civil Cases (form APP-001-INFO)
- Information on Appeal Procedures for Infractions (form CR-141-INFO)
- Information on Appeal Procedures for Misdemeanors (form CR-131-INFO)

You can get these forms at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/forms.

- Prejudicial error: The appellant (the party who is appealing) may ask the appellate division to decide if an error was made about either the law or court procedures in the case that caused substantial harm to the appellant (this is called “prejudicial error”).

Prejudicial error can include things like errors made by the judge about the law, errors or misconduct by the lawyers, incorrect instructions given to the jury, and misconduct by the jury that harmed the appellant. When it conducts its review, the appellate division presumes that the judgment, order, or other decision being appealed is correct. It is the responsibility of the appellant to show the appellate division that an error was made and that the error was harmful.

- No substantial evidence: The appellant may also ask the appellate division to decide if there was substantial evidence supporting the judgment, order, or other decision being appealed. When it conducts its review, the appellate division only looks to see if there was evidence that reasonably supports the decision. The appellate division generally will not reconsider the jury's or trial court's conclusion about which side had more or stronger evidence or whether witnesses were telling the truth or lying.

The appellate division generally will not overturn the judgment, order, or other decision being appealed unless the record clearly shows that one of these legal errors was made.

3 Do I need a lawyer to represent me in an appeal?

You do not have to have a lawyer; if you are an individual (rather than a corporation, for example), you are allowed to represent yourself in an appeal in a limited civil case. But appeals can be complicated and you will have to follow the same rules that lawyers have to follow. If you have any questions about the appeal procedures, you should talk to a lawyer.

If you decide not to use a lawyer, you must put your address, telephone number, fax number (if available), and email address (if available) on the first page of every document you file with the court and let the court know if this contact information changes so that the court can contact you if needed.

4 Where can I find a lawyer to help me with my appeal?

You have to hire your own attorney if you want one. You can get information about finding an attorney on the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts at selfhelp.courts.ca.gov/get-free-or-low-cost-legal-help.

INFORMATION FOR THE APPELLANT

This part of the information sheet is written for the appellant—the party who is appealing the trial court’s decision. It explains some of the rules and procedures relating to appealing a decision in a limited civil case. The information may also be helpful to the respondent. Additional information for respondents can be found starting on page 11 of this information sheet.

5 Who can appeal?

Only a party in the trial court case can appeal a decision in that case. You may not appeal on behalf of a friend, a spouse, a child, or another relative unless you are a legally appointed representative of that person (such as the person’s guardian or conservator).

6 Can I appeal any decision the trial court made?

No. Generally, you can only appeal the final judgment—the decision at the end that decides the whole case. Other rulings made by the trial court before the final judgment generally cannot be separately appealed but can be reviewed only later as part of an appeal of the final judgment. There are a few exceptions to this general rule. Code of Civil Procedure section 904.2 lists a few types of orders in a limited civil case that can be appealed right away. These include orders that:

- Change or refuse to change the place of trial (venue)
- Grant a motion to quash service of summons or grant a motion to stay or dismiss the action on the ground of inconvenient forum
- Grant a new trial or deny a motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict
- Discharge or refuse to discharge an attachment or grant a right to attach
- Grant or dissolve an injunction or refuse to grant or dissolve an injunction
- Appoint a receiver
- Are made after final judgment in the case

(You can get a copy of Code of Civil Procedure section 904.2 at leginfo.legislature.ca.gov/faces/codes.xhtml.)

7 How do I start my appeal?

First, you must serve and file a notice of appeal. The notice of appeal tells the other party or parties in the case and the trial court that you are appealing the trial court’s decision. You may use Notice of Appeal/Cross-Appeal—Limited Civil Case (form APP-102) to prepare a notice of appeal in a limited civil case. You can get form APP-102 at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/forms.

8 How do I “serve and file” the notice of appeal?

“Serve and file” means that you must:

- Have somebody over 18 years old mail, deliver, or electronically send (“serve”) the notice of appeal to the other party or parties in the way required by law. If the notice of appeal is mailed or personally delivered, it must be by someone who is not a party to the case—so not you.

- Make a record that the notice of appeal has been served. This record is called a “proof of service.” Proof of Service (form APP-109) or Proof of Electronic Service (Appellate Division) (form APP-109E) can be used to make this record. The proof of service must show who served the notice of appeal, who was served with the notice of appeal, how the notice of appeal was served (by mail, in person, or electronically), and the date the notice of appeal was served.
- Bring or mail the original notice of appeal and the proof of service to the trial court that issued the judgment, order, or other decision you are appealing. You should make a copy of the notice of appeal you are planning to file for your own records before you file it with the court. It is a good idea to bring or mail an extra copy of the notice of appeal to the clerk when you file your original and ask the clerk to stamp this copy to show that the original has been filed.

You can get more information about how to serve court papers and proof of service from What Is Proof of Service? (form APP-109-INFO) and on the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts at www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp-serving.htm.

9 Is there a deadline to file my notice of appeal?

Yes. In a limited civil case, except in the very limited circumstances listed in rule 8.823, you must file your notice of appeal within 30 days after the trial court clerk or a party serves either a document called a “Notice of Entry” of the trial court judgment or a file-stamped copy of the judgment or within 90 days after entry of the judgment, whichever is earlier.

This deadline for filing the notice of appeal cannot be extended. If your notice of appeal is late, the appellate division will not be able to consider your appeal.

10 Do I have to pay to file an appeal?

Yes. Unless the court waives this fee, you must pay a fee for filing your notice of appeal. You can ask the clerk of the court where you are filing the notice of appeal what the fee is or look up the fee for an appeal in a limited civil case in the current Statewide Civil Fee Schedule linked at www.courts.ca.gov/7646.htm (note that the “Appeal and Writ Related Fees” section is near the end of this schedule and that there are different fees for limited civil cases depending on the amount demanded in the case). If you cannot afford to pay the fee, you can ask the court to waive it. To do this, you must fill out and file a Request to Waive Court Fees (form FW-001). You can get form FW-001 at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/forms. You can file this application either before you file your notice of appeal or with your notice of appeal. The court will review this application to decide if you are eligible for a fee waiver.

11 If I file a notice of appeal, do I still have to do what the trial court ordered me to do?

Filing a notice of appeal does NOT automatically postpone most judgments or orders, such as those requiring you to pay another party money or to deliver property to another party (see Code of Civil Procedure sections 917.1–917.9 and 1176; you can get a copy of these laws at www.leginfo.legislature.ca.gov/faces/codes.xhtml). These kinds of judgments or orders will be postponed, or “stayed,” only if you request a stay and the court grants your request. In most cases, other than unlawful detainer cases in which the trial court’s judgment gives a party possession of the property, if the trial court denies your request for a stay, you can apply to the appellate division for a stay. If you do not get a stay and you do not do what the trial court ordered you to do, court proceedings to collect the money or otherwise enforce the judgment or order may be started against you.

12 What do I need to do after I file my notice of appeal?

You must ask the clerk of the trial court to prepare and send the official record of what happened in the trial court in your case to the appellate division.

Since the appellate division judges were not there to see what happened in the trial court, an official record of what happened must be prepared and sent to the appellate division for its review. You can use Appellant’s Notice Designating Record on Appeal (Limited Civil Case) (form APP-103) to ask the trial court to prepare this record. You can get form APP-103 at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/forms.

You must serve and file this notice designating the record on appeal within 10 days after you file your notice of appeal. “Serving and filing” this notice means that you must:

- Have somebody over 18 years old mail, deliver, or electronically send (“serve”) the notice to the other party or parties in the way required by law. If the notice is mailed or personally delivered, it must be by someone who is not a party to the case—so not you.
- Make a record that the notice has been served. This record is called a “proof of service.” Proof of Service (form APP-109) or Proof of Electronic Service (form APP-109E) can be used to make this record. The proof of service must show who served the notice, who was served with the notice, how the notice was served (by mail, in person, or electronically), and the date the notice was served.
- Bring or mail the original notice and the proof of service to the trial court that issued the judgment, order, or other decision you are appealing. You should make a copy of the notice you are planning to file for your own records before you file it with the court. It is a good idea to bring or mail an extra copy of the notice to the clerk when you file your original and ask the clerk to stamp this copy to show that the original has been filed.

You can get more information about how to serve court papers and proof of service from What Is Proof of Service? (form APP-109-INFO) and on the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts at www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp-serving.htm.

13 What is the official record of the trial court proceedings?

There are three parts of the official record:

- A record of what was said in the trial court (this is called the “oral proceedings”)
- A record of the documents filed in the trial court (other than exhibits)
- Exhibits that were admitted in evidence, refused, or lodged (temporarily placed with the court) in the trial court

Read below for more information about these parts of the record.

a. Record of what was said in the trial court (the “oral proceedings”)

The first part of the official record of the trial court proceedings is a record of what was said in the trial court (this is called a record of the “oral proceedings”). You do not have to send the appellate division a record of the oral proceedings. But if you want to raise any issue in your appeal that would require the appellate division to consider what was said in the trial court, the appellate division will need a record of those oral proceedings. For example, if you are claiming that there was not evidence supporting the judgment, order, or other decision you are appealing, the appellate division will need a record of the oral proceedings.

You are responsible for deciding how the record of the oral proceedings will be given and, depending on what option you select and your circumstances, you may also be responsible for paying for preparing this record or for preparing an initial draft of the record. If you do not take care of these responsibilities, a record of the oral proceedings in the trial court will not be prepared and sent to the appellate division. If the appellate division does not receive this record, it will not be able to review any issues that are based on what was said in the trial court and it may dismiss your appeal.

In a limited civil case, you can use Appellant’s Notice Designating Record on Appeal (Limited Civil Case) (form APP-103) to tell the court whether you want a record of the oral proceedings and, if so, the form of the record that you want to use. You can get form APP-103 at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/forms.

There are four ways in which a record of the oral proceedings can be prepared for the appellate division:

- If you or the other party arranged to have a court reporter there during the trial court proceedings, the reporter can prepare a record, called a “reporter’s transcript.”

- If the proceedings were officially electronically recorded, the trial court can have a transcript prepared from that recording or, if the court has a local rule permitting this and you and the other party agree (“stipulate”) to this, you can use the official electronic recording itself instead of a transcript.
- You can use an agreed statement.
- You can use a statement on appeal.

Read below for more information about these options.

(1) Reporter's transcript

Description: A reporter's transcript is a written record (sometimes called a “verbatim” record) of the oral proceedings in the trial court prepared by a court reporter. Rule 8.834 of the California Rules of Court establishes the requirements relating to reporter's transcripts.

When available: If a court reporter was there in the trial court and made a record of the oral proceedings, you can choose (“elect”) to have the court reporter prepare a reporter's transcript for the appellate division. In most limited civil cases, however, a court reporter will not have been there unless you or another party in your case made specific arrangements to have a court reporter there. Check with the court to see if a court reporter made a record of the oral proceedings in your case before choosing this option.

Contents: If you elect to use a reporter's transcript, you must identify by date (this is called “designating”) what proceedings you want included in the reporter's transcript. You can use the same form you used to tell the court you wanted to use a reporter's transcript—Appellant's Notice Designating Record on Appeal (Limited Civil Case) (form APP-103)—to do this.

If you elect to use a reporter's transcript, the respondent also has the right to designate additional proceedings to be included in the reporter's transcript. If you elect to proceed without a reporter's transcript, however, the respondent may not designate a reporter's transcript without first getting an order from the appellate division.

Cost: The appellant is responsible for paying for preparing a reporter's transcript. The trial court clerk or the court reporter will notify you of the cost of preparing an original and one copy of the reporter's transcript. You must deposit payment for this cost (and a fee for the trial court) or one of the substitutes allowed by rule 8.834 with the trial court clerk within 10 days after this notice is sent. (See rule 8.834 for more information about this deposit and the permissible substitutes, such as a waiver of this deposit signed by the court reporter.)

Unlike the fee for filing the notice of appeal and the costs for preparing a clerk's transcript, the court cannot waive the fee for preparing a reporter's transcript. A special fund, called the Transcript Reimbursement Fund, may be able to help pay for the transcript. You can get information about this fund at www.courtreportersboard.ca.gov/consumers/index.shtml#rtf. If you are unable to pay the cost of a reporter's transcript, a record of the oral proceedings can be prepared in other ways, by using an agreed statement or a statement on appeal, which are described below.

Completion and delivery: After the cost of preparing the reporter's transcript or a permissible substitute has been deposited, the court reporter will prepare the transcript and submit it to the trial court clerk. When the record is complete, the trial court clerk will submit the original transcript to the appellate division and send you a copy of the transcript. If the respondent has purchased it, a copy of the reporter's transcript will also be mailed to the respondent.

(2) Official electronic recording or transcript

When available: In some limited civil cases, the trial court proceedings were officially recorded on approved electronic recording equipment. If your case was officially recorded, you can choose (“elect”) to have a transcript prepared from the recording. Check with the trial court to see if the oral proceedings in your case were officially electronically recorded before you choose this option. If the court has a local rule permitting this and all the parties agree (“stipulate”), a copy of an official electronic recording itself can be used as the record, instead of preparing a transcript. If you choose this option, you must attach a copy of this agreement (“stipulation”) to your notice designating the record on appeal.

Contents: If you elect to use a transcript of an official electronic recording, you must identify by date (this is called “designating”) what proceedings you want included in the transcript. You can use the same form you used to tell the court you wanted to use a transcript of an official electronic recording—Appellant’s Notice Designating Record on Appeal (form APP-103)—to do this.

Cost: The appellant is responsible for paying the court for the cost of either (a) preparing a transcript or (b) making a copy of the official electronic recording.

(a) If you elect to use a transcript of an official electronic recording, you will need to deposit the estimated cost of preparing the transcript with the trial court clerk and pay the trial court a $50 fee. There are two ways to determine the estimated cost of the transcript:

- You can use the amounts listed in rule 8.130 (b)(1)(B) for each full or half day of court proceedings to estimate the cost of making a transcript of the proceeding you have designated in your notice designating the record on appeal. Deposit this estimated amount and the $50 fee with the trial court clerk when you file your notice designating the record on appeal.
- You can ask the trial court clerk for an estimate of the cost of preparing a transcript of the proceedings you have designated in your notice designating the record on appeal. You must deposit this amount and the $50 fee with the trial court within 10 days of receiving the estimate from the clerk.

(b) If the court has a local rule permitting the use of a copy of the electronic recording itself, rather than a transcript, and you have attached your agreement with the other parties to do this (“stipulation”) to the notice designating the record on appeal that you filed with the court, the trial court clerk will give you an estimate of the costs for this copy of the recording. You must pay this amount to the trial court.

If you cannot afford to pay the cost of preparing the transcript, the $50 fee, or the fee for the copy of the official electronic recording, you can ask the court to waive these costs. To do this, you must fill out and file a Request to Waive Court Fees (form FW-001). You can get form FW-001 at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/forms. The court will review this application to decide if you are eligible for a fee waiver.

Completion and delivery: After the estimated cost of the transcript or official electronic recording has been paid or waived, the clerk will have the transcript or copy of the recording prepared. When the transcript is completed or the copy of the official electronic recording is prepared and the rest of the record is complete, the clerk will send it to the appellate division.

(3) Agreed statement

Description: An agreed statement is a written summary of the trial court proceedings agreed to by all the parties. (See rule 8.836 of the California Rules of Court.)

When available: If the trial court proceedings were not recorded either by a court reporter or by official electronic recording equipment or if you do not want to use one of these options, you can choose (“elect”) to use an agreed statement as the record of the oral proceedings (please note that it may take more of your time to prepare an agreed statement than to use either a reporter’s transcript or official electronic recording, if they are available).

Contents: An agreed statement must explain what the trial court case was about, describe why the appellate division is the right court to consider an appeal in this case (why the appellate division has “jurisdiction”), and describe the rulings of the trial court relating to the points to be made on appeal.

The statement should include only those facts that you and the other parties think are needed to decide the appeal.

Preparation: If you elect to use this option, you must file the agreed statement with your notice designating the record on appeal or, if you and the other parties need more time to work on the statement, you can file a written agreement with the other parties (called a “stipulation”) stating that you are trying to agree on a statement. If you file this stipulation, within the next 30 days you must either file the agreed statement or tell the court that you and the other parties were unable to agree on a statement and file a new notice designating the record.

(4) Statement on appeal

Description: A statement on appeal is a summary of the trial court proceedings that is approved by the trial court judge who conducted those proceedings (the term “judge” includes commissioners and temporary judges).

When available: If the trial court proceedings were not recorded either by a court reporter or by official electronic recording equipment or if you do not want to use one of these options, you can choose (“elect”) to use a statement on appeal as the record of the oral proceedings (please note that it may take more of your time to prepare a statement on appeal than to use either a reporter’s transcript or official electronic recording, if they are available).

Contents: A statement on appeal must include:

- A statement of the points you (the appellant) are making on appeal;
- A summary of the trial court’s rulings and judgment; and
- A summary of the testimony of each witness and other evidence that is relevant to the issues you are raising on appeal.

(See rule 8.837 of the California Rules of Court for more information about what must be included in a statement on appeal and the procedures for preparing a statement. You can get a copy of this rule at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/rules.)

Preparing a proposed statement: If you elect to use a statement on appeal, you must prepare a proposed statement. If you are not represented by a lawyer, you must use Proposed Statement on Appeal (Limited Civil Case) (form APP-104) to prepare your proposed statement. You can get form APP-104 at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/forms.

Serving and filing a proposed statement: You must serve and file the proposed statement with the trial court within 20 days after you file your notice designating the record. “Serve and file” means that you must:

- Have somebody over 18 years old mail, deliver, or electronically send (“serve”) the proposed statement to the respondent in the way required by law. If the proposed statement is mailed or personally delivered, it must be by someone who is not a party to the case—so not you.
- Make a record that the proposed statement has been served. This record is called a “proof of service.” Proof of Service (form APP-109) or Proof of Electronic Service (form APP-109E) can be used to make this record. The proof of service must show who served the proposed statement, who was served with the proposed statement, how the proposed statement was served (by mail, in person, or electronically), and the date the proposed statement was served.
- File the original proposed statement and the proof of service with the trial court. You should make a copy of the proposed statement you are planning to file for your own records before you file it with the court. It is a good idea to bring or mail an extra copy of the proposed statement to the clerk when you file your original and ask the clerk to stamp this copy to show that the original has been filed.

You can get more information about how to serve court papers and proof of service from What Is Proof of Service? (form APP-109-INFO) and on the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts at www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp-serving.htm.

Review and modifications: The respondent has 10 days from the date you serve your proposed statement to serve and file proposed changes (called “amendments”) to this statement. The trial court judge then reviews both your proposed statement and any proposed amendments filed by the respondent. The trial judge will either make or order you (the appellant) to make any corrections or modifications to the statement that are needed to make sure that the statement gives an accurate summary of the testimony and other evidence relevant to the issues you stated you are making on appeal.

Completion and certification: If the judge makes any corrections or modifications to the proposed statement, the corrected or modified statement will be sent to you and the respondent for your review. If the judge orders you to make any corrections or modifications to the proposed statement, you must serve and file the corrected or modified statement within the time ordered by the judge. If you or the respondent disagree with anything in the modified or corrected statement, you have 10 days from the date the modified or corrected statement is sent to you to serve and file objections to the statement. The judge then reviews any objections, makes or orders you to make any additional corrections to the statement, and certifies the statement as an accurate summary of the testimony and other evidence relevant to the issues you stated you are making on appeal.

Sending statement to the appellate division: Once the trial court judge certifies the statement on appeal, the trial court clerk will send the statement to the appellate division along with any record of the documents filed in the trial court.

b. Record of the documents filed in the trial court

The second part of the official record of the trial court proceedings is a record of the documents that were filed in the trial court. There are three ways in which a record of the documents filed in the trial court can be prepared for the appellate division:

- A clerk’s transcript or an appendix
- The original trial court file or
- An agreed statement

Read below for more information about these options.

(1) Clerk’s transcript or appendix

Description: A clerk’s transcript is a record of the documents filed in the trial court prepared by the clerk of the trial court. An appendix is a record of these documents prepared by a party. (See rule 8.845 of the California Rules of Court.)

Contents: Certain documents, such as the notice of appeal and the trial court judgment or order being appealed, must be included in the clerk’s transcript or appendix. These documents are listed in rule 8.832\(a\) and rule 8.845\(b\) of the California Rules of Court and in Appellant’s Notice Designating Record on Appeal (Limited Civil Case) (form APP-103).

Clerk’s transcript: If you want any documents other than those listed in rule 8.832(a) to be included in the clerk’s transcript, you must tell the trial court in your notice designating the record on appeal. You can use form APP-103 to do this. You will need to identify each document you want included in the clerk’s transcript by its title and filing date or, if you do not know the filing date, the date the document was signed.

If you—the appellant—request a clerk’s transcript, the respondent also has the right to ask the clerk to include additional documents in the clerk’s transcript. If this happens, you will be served with a notice saying what other documents the respondent wants included in the clerk’s transcript.

Cost: The appellant is responsible for paying for preparing a clerk's transcript. The trial court clerk will send you a bill for the cost of preparing an original and one copy of the clerk's transcript. You must do one of the following things within 10 days after the clerk sends this bill or the appellate division may dismiss your appeal:

- Pay the bill.
- Ask the court to waive the cost because you cannot afford to pay. To do this, you must fill out and file a Request to Waive Court Fees (form FW-001). You can get form FW-001 at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/forms. The court will review this application to decide if you are eligible for a fee waiver.
- Give the court a copy of a court order showing that your fees in this case have already been waived by the court.

Completion and delivery: After the cost of preparing the clerk's transcript has been paid or waived, the trial court clerk will compile the requested documents into a transcript format and, when the record on appeal is complete, will forward the original clerk's transcript to the appellate division for filing. The trial court clerk will send you a copy of the transcript. If the respondent bought a copy, the clerk will also send a copy of the transcript to the respondent.

Appendix: If you choose to prepare an appendix of the documents filed in the superior court, rather than designating a clerk's transcript, that appendix must include all the documents and be prepared in the form required by rule 8.845 of the California Rules of Court. The parties may prepare separate appendixes or stipulate (agree) to a joint appendix. If separate appendixes are prepared, each party must pay for its own appendix. If a joint appendix is prepared, the parties can agree on how the cost of preparing the appendix will be paid or the appellant will pay the cost.

The party preparing the appendix must serve the appendix on each other party (unless the parties have agreed or the appellate division has ordered otherwise) and file the appendix in the appellate division. The appellant's appendix or a joint appendix must be served and filed before or together with the appellant's opening brief. See \(15\) for information about the brief.

(2) Trial court file

When available: If the court has a local rule allowing this, the clerk can send the appellate division the original trial court file instead of a clerk's transcript (see rule 8.833 of the California Rules of Court).

Cost: As with a clerk's transcript, the appellant is responsible for paying for preparing the trial court file. The trial court clerk will send you a bill for this preparation cost. You must do one of the following things within 10 days after the clerk sends this bill or the appellate division may dismiss your appeal:

- Pay the bill.
 - Ask the court to waive the cost because you cannot afford to pay. To do this, you must fill out and file a Request to Waive Court Fees (form FW-001). You can get form FW-001 at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/forms. The court will review this application to decide if you are eligible for a fee waiver.
- Give the court a copy of a court order showing - that your fees in this case have already been waived by the court.

Completion and delivery: After the cost of preparing the trial court file has been paid or waived and the record on appeal is complete, the trial court clerk will send the file and a list of the documents in the file to the appellate division. The trial court clerk will also send a copy of the list of documents to the appellant and respondent so that you can put your own files of documents from the trial court in the correct order.

(3) Agreed statement

When available: If you and the respondent have already agreed to use an agreed statement as the record of the oral proceedings (see a(3) above) and agree to this, you can use an agreed statement instead of a clerk's transcript. To do this, you must attach to your agreed statement all of the documents that are required to be included in a clerk's transcript.

c. Exhibits

The third part of the official record of the trial court proceeding is the exhibits, such as photographs, documents, or other items that were admitted in evidence, refused, or lodged (temporarily placed with the court) in the trial court. Exhibits are considered part of the record on appeal, but the clerk will not include any exhibits in the clerk's transcript unless you ask that they be included in your notice designating the record on appeal. Appellant's Notice Designating Record on Appeal (Limited Civil Case) (form APP-103), includes a space for you to make this request. You also can ask the trial court to send original exhibits to the appellate division at the time briefs are filed (see rule 8.843 for more information about this procedure and see below for information about briefs).

Sometimes, the trial court returns an exhibit to a party at the end of the trial. If the trial court returned an exhibit to you or another party and you or the other party ask for that exhibit to be included in the clerk's transcript or sent to the appellate division, the party who has the exhibit must deliver that exhibit to the trial court clerk as soon as possible.

14 What happens after the official record has been prepared?

As soon as the record on appeal is complete, the clerk of the trial court will send it to the appellate division. When the appellate division receives the record, it will send you a notice telling you when you must file your brief in the appellate division.

15 What is a brief?

Description: A "brief" is a party's written description of the facts in the case, the law that applies, and the party's argument about the issues being appealed. If you are represented by a lawyer in your appeal, your lawyer will prepare your brief. If you are not represented by a lawyer, you will have to prepare your brief yourself. You should read rules 8.882–8.884 of the California Rules of Court, which set out the requirements for preparing, serving, and filing briefs in limited civil appeals, including requirements for the format and length of these briefs. You can get copies of these rules at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/rules.

Contents: If you are the appellant, your brief, called an "appellant's opening brief," must clearly explain what you believe are the legal errors made in the trial court. Your brief must refer to the exact places in the clerk's transcript and the reporter's transcript (or the other forms of the record you are using) that support your argument. Remember that an appeal is not a new trial. The appellate division will not consider new evidence, such as the testimony of new witnesses or new exhibits, so do not include any new evidence in your brief.

You may, but are not required to, fill out Appellant's Opening Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-200) and use it as your opening brief. You can get more information about using this form as your opening brief from How to Use Form APP-200 in Limited Civil Cases (form APP-200-INFO).

Serving and filing: You must serve and file your brief in the appellate division by the deadline the court set in the notice it sent you, which is usually 30 days after the record is filed in the appellate division or 60 days from the date the appellant chooses to proceed with no reporter's transcript under rule 8.845. "Serve and file" means that you must:

- Have somebody over 18 years old mail, deliver, or electronically send ("serve") the brief to the other parties in the way required by law. If the brief is mailed or personally delivered, it must be by someone who is not a party to the case—so not you.
- Make a record that the brief has been served. This record is called a "proof of service." Proof of Service (form APP-109) or Proof of Electronic Service (form APP-109E) can be used to make this record. The proof of service must show who served the brief, who was served with the brief, how the brief was served (by mail, in person, or electronically), and the date the brief was served.

- File the original brief and the proof of service with the appellate division. You should make a copy of the brief you are planning to file for your own records before you file it with the court. It is a good idea to bring or mail an extra copy of the brief to the clerk when you file your original and ask the clerk to stamp this copy to show that the original has been filed.
- Note: If a party chooses to prepare an appendix of the documents filed in the trial court instead of designating a clerk's transcript, the appellant's appendix or a joint appendix must be served and filed before or together with the appellant's opening brief.

You can get more information about how to serve court papers and proof of service from What Is Proof of Service? (form APP-109-INFO) and on the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts at www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp-serving.htm.

You and the other parties can agree (stipulate) to extend the time for filing this brief by up to 30 days (see rule 8.882\(b\) for requirements for these agreements). You can also ask the court to extend the time for filing this brief if you can show good cause for an extension (see rule 8.811\(b\) for a list of the factors the court will consider in deciding whether there is good cause for an extension). You may use Application for Extension of Time to File Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-106) to ask the court for an extension.

If you do not file your brief by the deadline set by the appellate division, the court may dismiss your appeal.

16 What happens after I file my brief?

Within 30 days after you serve and file your brief, the respondent may, but is not required to, respond by serving and filing a respondent's brief. If the respondent does not file a brief, the appellant does not automatically win the appeal. The court will decide the appeal on the record, the appellant's brief, and any oral argument by the appellant.

If the respondent files a brief, within 20 days after the respondent's brief was filed, you may, but are not required to, file another brief replying to the respondent's brief. This is called a "reply brief."

17 What happens after all the briefs have been filed?

Once all the briefs have been filed or the time to file them has passed, the appellate division will notify you of the date for oral argument in your case.

18 What is "oral argument"?

"Oral argument" is the parties' chance to explain their arguments to the appellate division judges in person. You do not have to participate in oral argument if you do not want to; you can notify the appellate division that you want to "waive" oral argument. If all parties waive oral argument, the judges will decide your appeal based on the briefs and the record that were submitted. But if one party waives oral argument and another party or parties does not, the appellate division will hold oral argument with the party or parties who did not waive it.

If you do choose to participate in oral argument, you will have up to 10 minutes for your argument unless the appellate division orders otherwise. Remember that the judges will have already read the briefs, so you do not need to read your brief to the judges. It is more helpful to tell the judges what you think is most important in your appeal or ask the judges if they have any questions you could answer.

19 What happens after oral argument?

After oral argument is held (or the date it was scheduled passes if all the parties waive oral argument), the judges of the appellate division will make a decision about your appeal. The appellate division has 90 days after the date scheduled for oral argument to decide the appeal. The clerk of the court will mail you a notice of the appellate division's decision.

20 What should I do if I want to give up my appeal?

If you decide you do not want to continue with your appeal, you must file a written document with the appellate division notifying it that you are giving up (this is called "abandoning") your appeal. You can use Abandonment of Appeal (Limited Civil Case) (form APP-107) to file this notice in a limited civil case. You can get form APP-107 at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/forms.

INFORMATION FOR THE RESPONDENT

This section of this information sheet is written for the respondent—the party responding to an appeal filed by another party. It explains some of the rules and procedures relating to responding to an appeal in a limited civil case. The information may also be helpful to the appellant.

21 I have received a notice of appeal from another party. Do I need to do anything?

You do not have to do anything. The notice of appeal simply tells you that another party is appealing the trial court’s decision. However, this would be a good time to get advice from a lawyer, if you want it. You do not have to have a lawyer; if you are an individual (not a corporation, for example), you are allowed to represent yourself in an appeal in a limited civil case. But appeals can be complicated and you will have to follow the same rules that lawyers have to follow.

If you have any questions about the appeal procedures, you should talk to a lawyer. You must hire your own lawyer if you want one. You can get information about finding a lawyer on the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts at selfhelp.courts.ca.gov/get-free-or-low-cost-legal-help.

22 If the other party appealed, can I appeal too?

Yes. Even if another party has already appealed, you may still appeal the same judgment or order. This is called a “cross-appeal.” To cross-appeal, you must serve and file a notice of appeal. You can use Notice of Appeal/Cross-Appeal—Limited Civil Case (form APP-102) to file this notice in a limited civil case. Please read the information for appellants about filing a notice of appeal, starting on page 2 of this information sheet, if you are considering filing a cross-appeal.

23 Is there a deadline to file a cross-appeal?

Yes. You must serve and file your notice of appeal within either the regular time for filing a notice of appeal (generally 30 days after mailing or service of Notice of Entry of the judgment or a file-stamped copy of the judgment) or within 10 days after the clerk of the trial court mails notice of the first appeal, whichever is later.

24 I have received a notice designating the record on appeal from another party. Do I need to do anything?

You do not have to do anything. A notice designating the record on appeal lets you know what kind of official record the appellant has asked to be sent to the appellate division. Depending on the kind of record chosen by the appellant, however, you may have the option to:

- Add to what is included in the record
- Participate in preparing the record or
- Ask for a copy of the record

Look at the appellant’s notice designating the record on appeal to see what kind of record the appellant has chosen and read about that form of the record in the response to question (13) above. Then read below for what your options are when the appellant has chosen that form of the record.

a. Reporter’s transcript

If the appellant is using a reporter’s transcript, you have the option of asking for additional proceedings to be included in the reporter’s transcript. To do this, within 10 days after the appellant files its notice designating the record on appeal, you must serve and file a notice designating additional proceedings to be included in the reporter’s transcript.

Whether or not you ask for additional proceedings to be included in the reporter’s transcript, you must generally pay a fee if you want a copy of the reporter’s transcript. The trial court clerk or reporter will send you a notice stating the cost of preparing a copy of the reporter’s transcript. If you want a copy of the reporter’s transcript, you must deposit this amount (and a fee for the trial court) or one of the substitutes allowed by rule 8.834 with the trial court clerk within 10 days after this notice is sent. (See rule 8.834 for more information about this deposit and the permissible substitutes, such as a waiver of this deposit signed by the court reporter.)

Unlike the fee for preparing a clerk's transcript, the court cannot waive the fee for preparing a reporter's transcript. A special fund, called the Transcript Reimbursement Fund, may be able to help pay for the transcript. You can get information about this fund at www.courtreportersboard.ca.gov/consumers/index.shtml#trf. The reporter will not prepare a copy of the reporter's transcript for you unless you deposit the cost of the transcript, or one of the permissible substitutes, or your application for payment by the Transcript Reimbursement Fund is approved.

If the appellant elects not to use a reporter's transcript, you may not designate a reporter's transcript without first getting an order from the appellate division.

b. Agreed statement

If you and the appellant agree to prepare an agreed statement (a summary of the trial court proceedings that is agreed to by the parties), you and the appellant will need to reach an agreement on that statement within 30 days after the appellant files its notice designating the record.

c. Statement on appeal

If the appellant elects to use a statement on appeal (a summary of the trial court proceedings that is approved by the trial court), the appellant will send you a proposed statement to review. You will have 10 days from the date the appellant sent you this proposed statement to serve and file suggested changes (called "amendments") that you think are needed to make sure that the statement gives an accurate summary of the testimony and other evidence relevant to the issues the appellant stated the appellant is making on appeal. "Serve and file" means that you must:

- Have somebody over 18 years old mail, deliver, or electronically send ("serve") the proposed amendments to the appellant in the way required by law. If the proposed amendments are mailed or personally delivered, it must be by someone who is not a party to the case—so not you.
- Make a record that the proposed amendments have been served. This record is called a "proof of service." Proof of Service (form APP-109) or Proof of Electronic Service (form APP-109E) can be used to make this record. The proof of service must show who served the proposed amendments, who was served with the proposed amendments, how the proposed amendments were served (by mail, in person, or electronically), and the date the proposed amendments were served.
- File the original proposed amendments and the proof of service with the trial court. You should make a copy of the proposed amendments you are planning to file for your own records before you file them with the court. It is a good idea to bring or mail an extra copy of the proposed amendments to the clerk when you file your original and ask the clerk to stamp this copy to show that the original has been filed.

You can get more information about how to serve court papers and proof of service from What Is Proof of Service? (form APP-109-INFO) and on the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts at www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp-serving.htm.

d. Clerk's transcript or appendix

Clerk's transcript: If the appellant is using a clerk's transcript, you have the option of asking the clerk to include additional documents in the clerk's transcript.

To do this, within 10 days after the appellant serves its notice designating the record on appeal, you must serve and file a notice designating additional documents to be included in the clerk's transcript. You may use Respondent's Notice Designating Record on Appeal—Limited Civil Case (form APP-110) for this purpose.

Whether or not you ask for additional documents to be included in the clerk's transcript, you must pay a fee if you want a copy of the clerk's transcript. The trial court clerk will send you a notice stating the cost for a copy of the clerk's transcript. If you want a copy, you must deposit this amount with the court within 10 days after the clerk's notice was sent.

If you cannot afford to pay this cost, you can ask the court to waive it. To do this, you must fill out and file a Request to Waive Court Fees (form FW-001). You can get form FW-001 at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/forms. The court will review this application and decide if you are eligible for a fee waiver. The clerk will not prepare a copy of the clerk's transcript for you unless you deposit payment for the cost or obtain a fee waiver.

Appendix: If the appellant is using an appendix, and you and the appellant have not agreed to a joint appendix, you may prepare a separate respondent's appendix. See pages 8–9 for more information about preparing an appendix.

If the appellant chooses a clerk's transcript but does not have a waiver of the fee for a clerk's transcript, you can choose an appendix instead of a clerk's transcript, and the appeal will proceed by appendix. To choose an appendix, you can fill out and file Respondent's Notice Designating Record on Appeal—Limited Civil Case (form APP-110) within 10 days after the appellant's notice designating the record on appeal is filed.

25 What happens after the official record has been prepared?

As soon as the record on appeal is complete, the clerk of the trial court will send it to the appellate division. When the appellate division receives this record, it will send you a notice telling you when you must file your brief in the appellate division.

A brief is a party's written description of the facts in the case, the law that applies, and the party's argument about the issues being appealed. If you are represented by a lawyer, your lawyer will prepare your brief. If you are not represented by a lawyer in your appeal, you will have to prepare your brief yourself. You should read rules 8.882–8.884 of the California Rules of Court, which set out the requirements for preparing, serving, and filing briefs in limited civil appeals, including requirements for the format and length of these briefs. You can get these rules at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/rules.

The appellant serves and files the first brief, called an "appellant's opening brief." You may, but are not required to, respond by serving and filing a respondent's brief within 30 days after the appellant's opening brief is filed. "Serve and file" means that you must:

- Have somebody over 18 years old mail, deliver, or electronically send ("serve") the brief to the other parties in the way required by law. If the brief is mailed or personally delivered, it must be by someone who is not a party to the case—so not you.
- Make a record that the brief has been served. This record is called a "proof of service." Proof of Service (form APP-109) or Proof of Electronic Service (form APP-109E) can be used to make this record. The proof of service must show who served the brief, who was served with the brief, how the brief was served (by mail, in person, or electronically), and the date the brief was served.
- File the original brief and the proof of service with the appellate division. You should make a copy of the brief you are planning to file for your own records before you file it with the court. It is a good idea to bring or mail an extra copy of the brief to the clerk when you file your original and ask the clerk to stamp this copy to show that the original has been filed. You can get more information about how to serve court papers and proof of service from What Is Proof of Service? (form APP-109-INFO) and on the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts at www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp-serving.htm.

You may, but are not required to, fill out Respondent's Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-201) and use it as your answering brief. You can get more information about using this form as your answering brief from How to Use Form APP-201 in Limited Civil Cases (form APP-201-INFO).

You and the other parties can agree (stipulate) to extend the time for filing this brief by up to 30 days (see rule 8.882\(b\) for requirements for these agreements). You can also ask the court to extend the time for filing this brief if you can show good cause for an extension (see rule 8.811\(b\) for a list of the factors the court will consider in deciding whether there is good cause for an extension). You may use Application for Extension of Time to File Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-106) to ask the court for an extension.

If you do not file a respondent's brief, the appellant does not automatically win the appeal. The court will decide the appeal on the record, the appellant's brief, and any oral argument by the appellant. Remember that an appeal is not a new trial. The appellate division will not consider new evidence, such as the testimony of new witnesses or new exhibits, so do not include any new evidence in your brief.

If you file a respondent's brief, the appellant then has an opportunity to serve and file another brief within 20 days replying to your brief.

26 What happens after all the briefs have been filed?

Once all the briefs have been filed or the time to file them has passed, the court will notify you of the date for oral argument in your case.

“Oral argument” is the parties’ chance to explain their arguments to appellate division judges in person. You do not have to participate in oral argument if you do not want to; you can notify the appellate division that you want to “waive” oral argument. If all parties waive oral argument, the judges will decide the appeal based on the briefs and the record that were submitted. But if one party waives oral argument and another party or parties does not, the appellate division will hold oral argument with the party or parties who did not waive it.

After oral argument is held (or the scheduled date passes if all parties waive argument), the judges of the appellate division will make a decision about the appeal. The appellate division has 90 days after oral argument to decide the appeal. The clerk of the court will mail you a notice of the appellate division's decision.

Clerk stamps date here when form is filed.

Information About Your Appeal

- ② On (fill in the date): _____ I/my client filed a notice of appeal in the trial court case identified in the box on page 1 of this form.

Record of Oral Proceedings in the Trial Court

You do not have to provide the appellate division with a record of what was said in the trial court (this is called a record of the “oral proceedings”). But if you want to raise any issue in your appeal that would require the appellate division to consider what was said in the trial court, you will need to provide the appellate division with a record of those oral proceedings. For example, if you are claiming that there was not evidence supporting the judgment, order, or other decision you are appealing, you will need to provide a record of the oral proceedings.

- ③ I elect (choose)/My client elects to proceed (check a or b):
- a. ☐ WITHOUT a record of the oral proceedings in the trial court (skip item ④; go to item ⑤). I understand that if I elect to proceed without providing a record of the oral proceedings, the appellate division will not be able to review any issues I might want to raise about what was said in the trial court during those proceedings or any claim that there was not evidence to support the judgment, order, or decision I am appealing.
(Write initials here): _____
- b. ☐ WITH a record of the oral proceedings in the trial court (complete item ④ below). I understand that if I elect (choose) to proceed WITH a record of the oral proceedings in the trial court, I have to choose the record I want to use and take the actions described below to make sure this record is provided to the appellate division. I understand that if I do not take the actions described below and the appellate division does not receive this record, I am not likely to succeed in my appeal. (Write initials here): _____
- ④ I want to use the following record of what was said in the trial court proceedings in my case (check and complete only one of the following below—a, b, c, d, or e):
- a. ☐ Reporter’s Transcript. This option is available only if there was a court reporter in the trial court who made a record of what was said in court. Check with the trial court to see if there was a court reporter in your case before choosing this option. Complete (1) and (2).
- (1) Designation of proceedings to be included in reporter’s transcript. I request that the following proceedings in the trial court be included in the reporter’s transcript. (You must identify each proceeding you want included by its date, the department in which it took place, a description of the proceedings [for example, the examination of jurors, motions before trial, the taking of testimony, or the giving of jury instructions], the name of the court reporter who recorded the proceedings, and whether a certified transcript of the designated proceeding was previously prepared.)

Under rule 8.834, no payment is due for this transcript (skip the rest of (4) and go to (5)).

(4) Payment for reporter's transcript.

- (a) ☐ I will pay for the reporter's transcript I have designated in (1). Within 10 days of getting the reporter's estimate of the cost of the transcript, I will:

GENERAL INFORMATION1 What does this information sheet cover?

This information sheet tells you about how to use Appellant's Opening Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-200) to prepare an opening brief in a limited civil case.

A “limited civil case” is a civil case that involves an amount of $35,000 or less. If your case involves more than $35,000, your case is an “unlimited civil case” and you cannot use form APP-200. Also, do not use form APP-200 in a criminal case.

Do not use form APP-200 if a cross-appeal has been filed in your case. A cross-appeal is when both parties have filed notices of appeal asking to have the trial court's decision reviewed. For more information about briefs where a cross-appeal has been filed, see California Rules of Court, rule 8.884.

For information about the appeal process in limited civil cases in general, you should read Information on Appeal Procedures for Limited Civil Cases (form APP-101-INFO). To learn even more, you should read rules 8.800–8.845 and 8.880–8.891 of the California Rules of Court, which set out the procedures for appeals in limited civil cases. You can get this form and these rules at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/rules and www.courts.ca.gov/forms.

2 What is an appeal?

An appeal is a request to a higher court to review a decision made by a judge or jury in a lower court. In a limited civil case, the court hearing the appeal is the appellate division of the superior court and the lower court—called the “trial court” in this information sheet and in the form briefs—is the superior court.

If you are the party appealing (asking for the trial court's decision to be reviewed), you are called the appellant. If you received notice that another party in the case is appealing, you are called the respondent.

3 What is a brief?

A “brief” is a written document that tells the appellate division (the court reviewing your case):

- The facts in the case;
- The law that applies; and
- The party's arguments about the issues being appealed.

If you are the appellant, you will file the first brief, called an “opening brief.” If you are the respondent, after the appellant files the opening brief, you will have the chance to file the “respondent's brief” to respond to the appellant's arguments in the opening brief. Finally, if the respondent files a respondent's brief, the appellant will then have the chance to file a “reply brief” to reply to the respondent's arguments. The reply brief is the final brief unless the appellate division orders further briefing.

4 Preparing a brief

If you are represented by a lawyer in your appeal, your lawyer will prepare your brief. If you are not represented by a lawyer, you will have to prepare your brief yourself.

If you are the appellant, Appellant's Opening Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-200) may be used to prepare your opening brief. This information sheet explains to appellants how to fill out form APP-200.

If you are the respondent, Respondent's Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-201) may be used to prepare your respondent's brief. The information sheet How to Use Form APP-201 in Limited Civil Cases (form APP-201-INFO) explains how to fill out form APP-201.

If you are the appellant, and you would like to use a form to prepare your reply brief, you can use Appellant's Reply Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-202). The information sheet How to Use Form APP-202 in Limited Civil Cases (form APP-202-INFO) explains how to fill out form APP-202.

You or your lawyer do not need to use these forms for your briefs. If you choose to draft your own brief, read California Rules of Court, rules 8.882–8.884 to learn about what your brief must contain, how it must be formatted, and how and when it must be served and filed.

INFORMATION ABOUT FILLING OUT
APPELLANT'S OPENING BRIEF—
LIMITED CIVIL CASE (FORM APP-200)

If you are the appellant, you must prepare and file the first brief, called an “appellant’s opening brief.” This brief must clearly explain what you believe are the legal errors made in the trial court. You or your lawyer may use Appellant’s Opening Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-200) to prepare this opening brief. This section describes how to fill out that form.

5 Attachments, format, and length

Form APP-200 has spaces for you to give information or answer questions. If any of these spaces are not big enough and you need more space for your response to an item, you may check the box in that item stating that you need more space. After you check the box, you may continue your answer on a separate sheet of paper labeled “Attachment” followed by the item number you are filling out. For example, an attachment continuing your response to item 4 would be labeled “Attachment 4” at the top of the page. The separate sheets of paper used to continue your answers and the proof of service are the only attachments that may be included with your brief. Do not attach any other documents.

You should format your brief and attachments as follows:

- The attachments must be on white paper, 8.5 inches by 11 inches in size, with 1.5-inch margins on the left and right and 1-inch margins on the top and bottom.
- In typing the brief and attachments, you may use any standard font, but the font must not be smaller than 13 point.
- You should use normal typeface, but italics, boldface type, or underscores can be used for emphasis. Case names must also be in italics or underscored.
- If you file the brief in paper form, you should bind the brief on the left margin, unless the appellate division has a local rule requiring the brief to be bound on the top.
- All attachments need to be included at the end of form APP-200 in the order of the attachment number. For example, you would put Attachment 4 after Attachment 3. You then need to number the pages of all the attachments in order, starting with page 8 (because the actual form is 7 pages long).

Your opening brief, including the form and any attachments, may not be longer than 25 pages.

6 Completing the caption (the top part of the form)

Name of the parties on appeal. At the top left of the form, fill out the name of each party appealing the trial court’s decision and the name of each party who is a respondent in the appeal.

Appellate division case number. When you filed the notice of appeal in your case, the clerk gave the appeal a case number. You can find this number on the notice of briefing schedule or another document about your case sent to you by the clerk of the appellate division. Write that number in the box entitled “Appellate Division Case Number.”

Trial court case number and trial court judicial officer. Write the case number your case had in the trial court here. You can find this number on any court order from the trial court. Also write the name of the trial court judge or other judicial officer who made the decision you are appealing.

7 Completing item 1, "Information About the Appellant"

In item 1a, type your name. If you are a lawyer filling this out for your client, type your name, State Bar number, and the name of your law firm.

In item 1b, type your address and contact information if you do not have a lawyer. If you are a lawyer filling out this form for your client, write your office address, telephone number, fax number (if applicable), and email address.

8 Completing item 2, "The Order Being Appealed as Stated in the Notice of Appeal"

In this item, you are telling the appellate division about the judgment or order you are appealing. Check the box or boxes that describe the judgment or orders you are appealing. You may check multiple boxes. For example, if you are appealing from the final judgment after a jury trial and the trial court’s denial of your motion for a new trial, you would check the box at item 2a and 2b.

For more information, see Code of Civil Procedure section 904.2.

9 Completing item 3, "Timeliness of Appeal"

In item 3, you are providing the court with information about when the trial court entered the order or judgment you are appealing, when notice of that order or judgment was served, and when your notice of appeal was filed. This information will help the appellate division decide whether you filed your notice of appeal in time.

Usually, under California Rules of Court, rule 8.822, the deadline to file a Notice of Appeal is 30 days after you are served with either a document called "Notice of Entry" of judgment or a file-stamped copy of the judgment or order. If neither of these documents is served on you, the deadline is 90 days after the judgment or order was made. There are very limited exceptions to these deadlines that you can find in California Rules of Court, rule 8.823.

In item 3a, write the date the trial court entered the judgment or order you are appealing.

In item 3b, write the date that you were served by the clerk or another party with a notice of entry of judgment or a copy of the judgment under California Rules of Court, rule 8.822.

The time to file a notice of appeal may be longer if certain types of motions were filed after the trial court made its decision and the motion was denied by the trial court. These motions are listed in item 3c (notice of intention to move for a new trial, motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, motion for reconsideration, or motion to vacate judgment).

In item 3c, check "yes" if a party filed one of the listed motions which was then denied by the trial court. If you check "yes," write the type of motion that was filed, the date the motion was filed, the date the trial court denied the motion, and the date you were served with a copy of the trial court's denial.

Finally, in item 3d, list the date you filed your notice of appeal.

10 Completing item 4, "Other Appeals"

In item 4, state whether there have been any other appeals in this case. If yes, give the case numbers for those other appeals.

11 Completing item 5, "What Are the Facts of This Case?"

In item 5, discuss what happened between the parties to cause this lawsuit to be filed. You must only include facts that:

- Are important to what you think the trial court got wrong, and
- Were presented to the trial court.

Important: The appellate division will NOT consider new evidence, such as the testimony of new witnesses or new exhibits, so do not discuss any facts that were not given to the trial court.

For each fact you discuss in item 5, you must tell the appellate division where in the record on appeal it shows that the fact was presented to the trial court. (For more information about the record on appeal, read item 13 on form APP-101-INFO.) To do this, when you discuss a fact, you must cite the page in the record where it shows that fact was presented to the trial court. To cite means to give (1) the volume number of the part of the record where the fact can be found, (2) the name of the part of the record you are citing, and (3) the page number in the record where the fact can be found. Here are examples of how to cite to different forms of the record:

- If the fact you are discussing appears at page 10 of volume 2 of the Clerk's Transcript, you would cite the Clerk's Transcript as "2 CT 10."
- If the fact you are discussing appears at page 15 of volume 1 of the Reporter's Transcript, you would cite the Reporter's Transcript as "1 RT 15."
- If the parties used an appendix on appeal instead of a clerk's transcript, and the fact you are discussing appears at page 33 of volume 1 of the appendix, you would cite the appendix as "1 AA 33."

12 Completing item 6, "What Happened in the Trial Court?"

In item 6, you will give the appellate division the facts about what happened in the trial court. Just like in item 5, you must cite to where in the record on appeal a fact you give appears. For example, when you are talking about a specific document filed in the trial court (such as a complaint, a motion, or a court order), cite to where in the record that document can be found.

In item 6a, state whether you were the plaintiff or the defendant in the trial court. The plaintiff is the party who filed the complaint in the case. The defendant is the party against whom the complaint was filed.

In item 6b, describe the legal claims the plaintiff made in the complaint. The plaintiff started this lawsuit by filing a complaint. The complaint explains how the plaintiff believes they have been harmed. The “legal claims” in the complaint describe why the plaintiff believes the defendant is legally responsible for that harm. The following are examples of legal claims:

- The defendant drove through a red light and crashed into the plaintiff. The legal claim would be for “negligence.”
- The defendant failed to pay the plaintiff for work the plaintiff did under a contract. The legal claim would be for “breach of contract.”

In item 6c, describe what the plaintiff asked the trial court to do in the complaint to fix the harm they suffered. For example, the plaintiff may have asked the trial court to order the defendant to pay damages (money) to the plaintiff or to issue an injunction (an order requiring the defendant either to do something or not to do something).

In item 6d, describe the arguments the defendant made to the trial court against the complaint. These arguments are the reasons why the defendant believed the plaintiff should lose the lawsuit. These arguments can be found either in the defendant’s answer or in motions filed by the defendant (such as a demurrer or a motion for summary judgment). Examples of such arguments could include:

- The plaintiff waited too long to bring this lawsuit and the claims are now barred by the statute of limitations.
- The facts stated in the complaint do not support the legal claims.
- The plaintiff failed to give evidence supporting their legal claims.

In item 6e, state whether the defendant filed a cross-complaint against the plaintiff or another party. When a plaintiff sues a defendant, the defendant can sue the plaintiff back, or if the defendant thinks someone else is responsible for plaintiff’s harm, the defendant can sue that other person and bring them into the lawsuit. This is called filing a cross-complaint. If the defendant in this case filed a cross-complaint, briefly describe the legal claims made in the cross-complaint and what relief the defendant asked the trial court to order.

In item 6f, describe the decision of the trial court that you are appealing. You should state what the trial court’s decision was (for example, an order sustaining defendant’s demurrer, an order granting a motion for summary judgment, or a judgment after a jury verdict) and describe any reasons the trial court gave for its decision. Finally, describe what, if anything, the trial court’s decision requires the parties to do.

13 Completing item 7, "Your Request of the Appellate Division of the Superior Court"

In item 7, tell the appellate division what you would like it to do to fix the mistakes you believe the trial court made. For example, if the trial court sustained the defendant’s demurrer and dismissed your case, you could ask the appellate division to reverse the judgment and send the case back to the trial court to allow the case to continue.

14 Completing item 8, "What Do You Think the Trial Court Did Wrong?"

In item 8, you must clearly explain what you believe the trial court did wrong in deciding your case. You must include all your arguments in this opening brief. The appellate division will only consider arguments made in the opening brief.

It is important to understand that an appeal is NOT a new trial. The appellate division will not consider new evidence, such as the testimony of new witnesses or new exhibits. Instead, the appellate division will review the appellate record (the record of what happened in the trial court that the parties have given the court) and the trial court’s decision to see if certain kinds of legal errors were made. The appellate division can only review a case to see whether one of the two types of mistakes happened:

- A prejudicial error happened in the case before the trial court. A prejudicial error is an error that was made about either the law or court procedures in the case and that caused harm to the appellant.

Prejudicial error can include things like errors made by the judge about the law, errors or misconduct by the lawyers, incorrect instructions given to the jury, and misconduct by the jury that harmed the appellant. When it conducts its review, the appellate division presumes that the judgment, order, or other decision being appealed is correct. As the appellant, you have the responsibility of showing that an error was made and that you were harmed by the error in some way.

- That there was no substantial evidence to support the judgment, order, or other decision being appealed. Substantial evidence is evidence that is reasonable and believable. When it conducts its review, the appellate division only looks to see if there was evidence that reasonably supports the trial court's judgment, order, or other decision. The appellate division generally will not reconsider the jury's or trial court's conclusion about which side had more or stronger evidence or whether witnesses were telling the truth or lying.

The appellate division generally will not reverse the judgment, order, or other decision being appealed unless the record clearly shows that one of these mistakes was made. (Reverse means to change the trial court's decision.)

Item 8 is your opportunity to explain to the appellate division how the trial court made one of these mistakes and how the mistake harmed your case.

For each argument, you should clearly identify the following:

- The mistake you believe the trial court made in its judgment, order, or other decision you are appealing
- The standard of review the appellate division should apply in reviewing the argument. The standard of review is how the appellate division looks at what happened in the trial court to decide if the trial court made a mistake.

Some common standards of review are de novo, abuse of discretion, and substantial evidence. De novo review is used if you are arguing that the trial court applied the law wrong. Abuse of discretion review is used if you are arguing that the trial court exercised its discretion in an absurd or arbitrary way. Substantial evidence review is used if you are arguing that the evidence as decided by the trial court or jury does not support the trial court's decision.

For more information about standards of review, visit the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts website at selfhelp.courts.ca.gov/civil-appeals/legal-errors-standards-review.

- The places in the record on appeal where the facts that support your argument can be found. (Please see the discussion of cites to the record on appeal in item 11 of this information sheet.)

- The law that supports your argument. This can take the form of statutes, court opinions, court rules, constitutional provisions, or other legal authority. You may find law that supports your appeal mentioned in the documents filed by the parties in the trial court or in the trial court's decisions.

Form APP-200 has items for you to make two arguments. If you have more than two arguments to make, check the box at item 8c and make those additional arguments on a separate piece of paper and write "Attachment 8c" at the top.

15 Serving and Filing Your Brief

After you have completed your brief, make copies of the brief (with all attachments) for your records, each of the other parties in the case, and the trial court.

Serve a copy of the completed form (with all attachments) on each of the other parties and the trial court and keep proof of this service. There are two forms you may use to show proof of service:

- Proof of Service (form APP-109); or
- Proof of Electronic Service (form APP-109E).

You can get more information about how to serve court papers and proof of service from What is Proof of Service (form APP-109-INFO) and on the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts website at www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp-serving.htm.

After you have served copies of the brief on the other parties and the trial court, file the original brief and all attachments, along with the proof of service, with the appellate division.

Clerk stamps date here when form is filed.

GENERAL INFORMATION1 What does this information sheet cover?

This information sheet tells you about how to use Respondent's Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-201) to draft a respondent's brief in a limited civil case.

A “limited civil case” is a civil case that involves an amount of $35,000 or less. If your case involves more than $35,000, your case is an “unlimited civil case” and you cannot use form APP-201. Also, do not use form APP-201 in a criminal case.

Do not use form APP-201 if a cross-appeal has been filed in your case. A cross-appeal is when both parties have filed notices of appeal asking to have the trial court's decision reviewed. For more information about briefs where a cross-appeal has been filed, see California Rules of Court, rule 8.884.

For information about the appeal process in limited civil cases in general, you should read Information on Appeal Procedures for Limited Civil Cases (form APP-101-INFO). To learn even more, you should read rules 8.800–8.845 and 8.880–8.891 of the California Rules of Court, which set out the procedures for appeals in limited civil cases. You can get this form and these rules at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/rules and www.courts.ca.gov/forms.

2 What is an appeal?

An appeal is a request to a higher court to review a decision made by a judge or jury in a lower court. In a limited civil case, the court hearing the appeal is the appellate division of the superior court, and the lower court—called the “trial court” in this information sheet and in the form briefs—is the superior court.

If you are the party appealing (asking for the trial court's decision to be reviewed), you are called the appellant. If you received notice that another party in the case is appealing, you are called the respondent.

3 What is a brief?

A “brief” is a written document that tells the appellate division (the court reviewing your case):

- The facts in the case;
- The law that applies; and
- The party's arguments about the issues being appealed.

If you are the appellant, you will file the first brief, called an “opening brief.” If you are the respondent, after the appellant files the opening brief, you will have the chance to file the “respondent's brief” to respond to the appellant's arguments in the opening brief. Finally, if the respondent files a respondent's brief, the appellant will then have the chance to file a “reply brief” to reply to the respondent's arguments. The reply brief is the final brief unless the appellate division orders further briefing.

4 Preparing a brief

If you are represented by a lawyer in your appeal, your lawyer will prepare your brief. If you are not represented by a lawyer, you will have to prepare your brief yourself.

If you are the appellant, Appellant's Opening Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-200) may be used to prepare your opening brief. The information sheet How to Use Form APP-200 in Limited Civil Cases (form APP-200-INFO) explains how to fill out form APP-200.

If you are the respondent, Respondent's Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-201) may be used to prepare your respondent's brief. This information sheet explains how to fill out form APP-201.

If you are the appellant, and you would like to use a form to prepare your reply brief, you can use Appellant's Reply Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-202). The information sheet How to Use Form APP-202 in Limited Civil Cases (form APP-202-INFO) explains how to fill out form APP-202.

You or your lawyer do not need to use these forms for your briefs. If you choose to draft your own brief, read California Rules of Court, rules 8.882–8.884 to learn about what your brief must contain, how it must be formatted, and how and when it must be served and filed.

INFORMATION ABOUT FILLING OUT
RESPONDENT'S BRIEF—LIMITED CIVIL CASE (FORM APP-201)

If you are the respondent, your brief, called a “respondent’s brief,” responds to the arguments made in the appellant’s opening brief and explains why the trial court’s decision being appealed is correct. You or your lawyer may use Respondent’s Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-201) for this purpose. This section describes how to fill out that form.

You do not need to submit a respondent’s brief. However, if you do not submit a brief, you will lose the chance to present your argument to the appellate division, either in writing or by making an oral argument before the appellate division. (For more information about oral argument, read item 26 on form APP-101-INFO.) If you do not submit a brief, the appellant does not automatically win the appeal. Instead, the appellate division will decide the appeal on the trial court record, the appellant’s opening brief, and any oral argument by the appellant.

5 Attachments, format, and length

Form APP-201 has spaces for you to give information or answer questions. If any of these spaces are not big enough and you need more space for your response to an item, you may check the box in that item stating that you need more space. After you check the box, you may continue your answer on a separate sheet of paper labeled “Attachment” followed by the item number you are filling out. For example, an attachment continuing your response to item 4 would be labeled “Attachment 4” at the top of the page. The separate sheets of paper used to continue your answers and the proof of service are the only attachments that may be included with your brief. Do not attach any other documents.

You should format your brief and attachments as follows:

- The attachments must be on white paper, 8.5 inches by 11 inches in size, with 1.5 inch margins on the left and right and 1-inch margins on the top and bottom.
- In typing the brief and attachments, you may use any standard font, but the font must not be smaller than 13 point.
- You should use normal typeface, but italics, boldface type, or underscores can be used for emphasis. Case names must also be in italics or underscored.

- If you file the brief in paper form, you should bind the brief on the left margin, unless the appellate division has a local rule requiring the brief to be bound on the top.
- All attachments need to be included at the end of form APP-201 in the order of the attachment number. For example, you would put Attachment 4 after Attachment 3. You then need to number the pages of all the attachments in order, starting with page 6 (because the actual form is 5 pages long).

Your respondent’s brief, including the form and any attachments, may not be longer than 25 pages.

6 Completing the caption (the top part of the form)

Name of the parties on appeal. At the top left of the form, fill out the name of each party appealing the trial court’s decision and the name of each party who is a respondent in the appeal.

Appellate division case number. When the appellant filed the notice of appeal in this case, the clerk gave the appeal a case number. You can find this number on the appellant’s opening brief or on the notice of briefing schedule sent to you by the clerk of the appellate division. Write that number in the box entitled “Appellate Division Case Number.”

Trial court case number and trial court judicial officer. Write the case number your case had in the trial court here. You can find this number on any court order from the trial court. Also write the name of the trial court judge or other judicial officer who made the decision the appellant is appealing.

7 Completing item 1, “Information About the Respondent”

In item 1a, type your name. If you are a lawyer filling this out for your client, type your name, State Bar number, and the name of your law firm.

In item 1b, type your address and contact information if you do not have a lawyer. If you are a lawyer filling out this form for your client, write your office address, telephone number, fax number (if applicable), and email address.

8 Completing item 2, "What Are the Facts of This Case?"

You do not need to fill out item 2 if you agree with the facts stated by the appellant in the appellant's opening brief. If you do not agree with those facts, then, in item 2, discuss what happened between the parties to cause this lawsuit to be filed.

If you discuss the facts, you must only include facts that:

- Are important to the arguments made in the appellant's opening brief, your responses to those arguments you make in item 3, or other arguments you make in item 4 about why the trial court was correct in the decision the appellant is challenging on appeal or why the appellant should not be allowed to appeal; and
- Were presented to the trial court. The appellate division will not consider new evidence, such as the testimony of new witnesses or new exhibits, so do not discuss any facts that were not presented to the trial court.

For each fact you discuss in item 2, you must tell the appellate division where in the record on appeal it shows that the fact was presented to the trial court. (For more information about the record on appeal, read item 13 on form APP-101-INFO.) To do this, when you discuss a fact, you must cite the page in the record where it shows that fact was presented to the trial court. To cite means to give (1) the volume number of the part of the record where the fact can be found, (2) the name of the part of the record you are citing, and (3) the page number in the record where the fact can be found. Here are examples of how to cite to different forms of the record:

- If the fact you are discussing appears at page 10 of volume 2 of the Clerk's Transcript, you would cite the Clerk's Transcript as "2 CT 10."
- If the fact you are discussing appears at page 15 of volume 1 of the Reporter's Transcript, you would cite the Reporter's Transcript as "1 RT 15."
- If the parties used an appendix on appeal instead of a clerk's transcript, and the fact you are discussing appears at page 33 of volume 1 of the appendix, you would cite the appendix as "1 AA 33."

9 Completing item 3, "What Are Your Responses to Appellant's Arguments?"

Item 3 is your opportunity to explain why the arguments made by the appellant in the appellant's opening brief are wrong and the trial court's decision is right. You should respond to every legal argument made by the appellant in the opening brief and should respond to the arguments in the same order that appellant made them.

Form APP-201 has items for you to respond to the appellant's first two arguments. If the appellant made more than two arguments, check the box at item 3c, and respond to the appellant's other arguments on a separate piece of paper labeled "Attachment 3c" at the top of the page.

For each response, begin by briefly describing the appellant's argument to which you are responding. Then, explain why you believe the appellant's argument is wrong and the trial court's decision is correct. Even if the appellant has identified a legal mistake made by the trial court, you can argue that the mistake did not cause enough harm (or prejudice) to the appellant's case to require the trial court's decision to be changed (or reversed).

In each of your responses, you must clearly identify the following:

- The places in the record on appeal where the facts that support your argument can be found. (Please see the discussion of cites to the record on appeal in item 8 of this information sheet.)
- The law that supports your argument. This can take the form of statutes, court opinions, court rules, constitutional provisions, or other legal authority. You may find law that supports your appeal mentioned in the documents filed by the parties in the trial court or in the trial court's decisions.

In reviewing the arguments made by the appellant in the opening brief and your responses to those arguments, the appellate division will apply a standard of review. The standard of review is the rule or guidelines the appellate division will apply to decide whether a mistake was made in the trial court. If the appellant's opening brief failed to discuss the applicable standard of review, or if you disagree with the appellant about which standard of review applies, you should include in your response a discussion of what standard of review you believe applies.

You can get information about the possible standards of review that may apply on the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts website at selfhelp.courts.ca.gov/civil-appeals/legal-errors-standards-review.

10 Completing item 4, "Other Arguments"

In item 3, you responded to the arguments the appellant made in the appellant's opening brief. Item 4 is your opportunity to make any additional arguments you may have for why the trial court's decision is correct.

For example, if the trial court's decision gave two reasons why the appellant lost, but the appellant only discussed one of these reasons in the appellant's opening brief, you could argue that the appellant has lost the ability to challenge the other reason.

Additionally, if the appellant did not follow the court rules about appeals, you can argue in item 4 that the appellate division should dismiss the appeal. For example, if the appellant failed to file the notice of appeal in time or if the trial court's decision is not an appealable order, you could make these arguments in item 4. For more information about the deadlines for filing a notice of appeal and what orders or trial court decisions can be appealed, see the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts website at selfhelp.courts.ca.gov/civil-appeals/can-you-appeal.

You may make as many additional arguments as you want. Each argument should be listed separately with a title that summarizes the argument in a single sentence, followed by the argument. If you require additional space, check the box stating you need additional space, and continue your answer on an attached sheet of paper labeled "Attachment 4" at the top of the page.

11 Completing item 5, "Your Request of the Appellate Division"

In item 5, tell the appellate division what you would like it to do. For example, if you believe the trial court's decision is correct, you could ask the appellate division to affirm the trial court's decision (to affirm means to uphold the trial court's decision). Or, if you believe the appellant has not followed the rules about appeals and the appellate division should reject the appeal, you could ask the appellate division to dismiss the appellant's appeal, leaving the trial court's decision in place.

12 Serving and Filing Your Brief

After you have completed your brief, make copies of the brief (with all attachments) for your records, each of the other parties in the case, and the trial court.

Serve a copy of the completed form (with all attachments) on each of the other parties and the trial court, and keep proof of this service. There are two forms you may use to show proof of service:

- Proof of Service (form APP-109); or
- Proof of Electronic Service (form APP-109E).

You can get more information about how to serve court papers and proof of service from What is Proof of Service (form APP-109-INFO) and on the Self Help Guide to the California Courts website at www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp-serving.htm.

After you have served copies of the brief on the other parties and the trial court, file the original brief and all attachments, along with the proof of service, with the appellate division.

2 What Are the Facts of This Case?

You do not need to fill out this item if you agree with what the appellant's opening brief says are the facts. If you do not agree with what the appellant's opening brief says are the facts, please describe the facts presented to the trial court that are relevant to the parties' arguments on appeal. For each fact you mention, cite the page or pages of the record where it shows that the fact was presented to the trial court. Refer to facts presented to the trial court as well as the statutes, cases, court rules, constitutions, or other legal authorities that support your responses. Read item 9 on How to Use form APP-201 in Limited Civil Cases (form APP-201-INFO) before filling out this section.

☐ Check here if there is not enough space for your answer. Continue your answer on an attached sheet of paper, and write "Attachment 3b(2)" at the top.

- c. ☐ Check here to respond to additional arguments. Include these additional responses on an attached sheet of paper, and write "Attachment 3c" at the top. For each response, begin first by briefly describing the argument in the Appellant's Opening Brief to which you are responding, and then give your response.

4 Other Arguments

Are there any other arguments you would like to raise to explain why the superior court was correct in the decision that the appellant is challenging on appeal or why the appellant should not be allowed to appeal?

☐ Check here if there is not enough space for your answer. Continue your answer on an attached sheet of paper, and write "Attachment 4" at the top.

GENERAL INFORMATION1 What does this information sheet cover?

This information sheet tells you about how to use Appellant's Reply Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-201) to draft a reply brief in a limited civil case.

A “limited civil case” is a civil case that involves an amount of $35,000 or less. If your case involves more than $35,000, your case is an “unlimited civil case” and you cannot use form APP-202. Also, do not use form APP-202 in a criminal case.

Do not use form APP-202 if a cross-appeal has been filed in your case. A cross-appeal is when both parties have filed notices of appeal asking to have the trial court's decision reviewed. For more information about briefs where a cross-appeal has been filed, see California Rules of Court, rule 8.884.

For information about the appeal process in limited civil cases in general, you should read Information on Appeal Procedures for Limited Civil Cases (form APP-101-INFO). To learn even more, you should read rules 8.800–8.845 and 8.880–8.891 of the California Rules of Court, which set out the procedures for appeals in limited civil cases. You can get this form and these rules at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/rules and www.courts.ca.gov/forms.

2 What is an appeal?

An appeal is a request to a higher court to review a decision made by a judge or jury in a lower court. In a limited civil case, the court hearing the appeal is the appellate division of the superior court, and the lower court—called the “trial court” in this information sheet and in the form briefs—is the superior court.

If you are the party appealing (asking for the trial court's decision to be reviewed), you are called the appellant. If you received notice that another party in the case is appealing, you are called the respondent.

3 What is a brief?

A “brief” is a written document that tells the appellate division (the court reviewing your case):

- The facts in the case;
- The law that applies; and
- The party's arguments about the issues being appealed.

If you are the appellant, you will file the first brief, called an “opening brief.” If you are the respondent, after the appellant files the opening brief, you will have the chance to file the “respondent's brief” to respond to the appellant's arguments in the opening brief. Finally, if the respondent files a respondent's brief, the appellant will then have the chance to file a “reply brief” to reply to the respondent's arguments. The reply brief is the final brief unless the appellate division orders further briefing.

4 Preparing a brief

If you are represented by a lawyer in your appeal, your lawyer will prepare your brief. If you are not represented by a lawyer, you will have to prepare your brief yourself.

If you are the appellant, Appellant's Opening Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-200) may be used to prepare your opening brief. The information sheet How to Use Form APP-200 in Limited Civil Cases (form APP-200-INFO) explains how to fill out form APP-200.

If you are the respondent, Respondent's Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-201) may be used to prepare your respondent's brief. The information sheet How to Use Form APP-201 in Limited Civil Cases (form APP-201-INFO) explains how to fill out form APP-201.

If you are the appellant, and you would like to use a form to prepare your reply brief, you can use Appellant's Reply Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-202). This information sheet explains how to fill out form APP-202.

You or your lawyer do not need to use these forms for your briefs. If you choose to draft your own brief, read California Rules of Court, rules 8.882–8.884 to learn about what your brief must contain, how it must be formatted, and how and when it must be served and filed.

INFORMATION ABOUT FILLING OUT
APPELLANT'S REPLY BRIEF—
LIMITED CIVIL CASE (FORM APP-202)

If you are the appellant and the respondent filed a respondent's brief, that brief contained arguments that responded to your opening brief. You now have the opportunity to file an "appellant's reply brief," which replies to those arguments made in the respondent's brief. You or your lawyer may use Appellant's Reply Brief—Limited Civil Case (form APP-202) for this purpose. This section describes how to fill out that form.

You do not need to file a reply brief unless you want to. If you choose to file a reply brief, it will be the final brief filed in the case, unless the appellate division chooses to order additional briefing.

5 Attachments, format, and length

Form APP-202 has spaces for you to give information or answer questions. If any of these spaces are not big enough and you need more space for your response to an item, you may check the box in that item stating that you need more space. After you check the box, you may continue your answer on a separate sheet of paper labeled "Attachment" followed by the item number you are filling out. For example, an attachment continuing your response to item 4 would be labeled "Attachment 4" at the top of the page. The separate sheets of paper used to continue your answers and the proof of service are the only attachments that may be included with your brief. Do not attach any other documents.

You should format your brief and attachments as follows:

- The attachments must be on white paper, 8.5 inches by 11 inches in size, with 1.5-inch margins on the left and right and 1-inch margins on the top and bottom.
- In typing the brief and attachments, you may use any standard font, but the font must not be smaller than 13 points.
- You should use normal typeface, but italics, boldface type, or underscores can be used for emphasis. Case names must also be in italics or underscored.

- If you file the brief in paper form, you should bind the brief on the left margin, unless the appellate division has a local rule requiring the brief to be bound on the top.
- All attachments need to be included at the end of form APP-202 in the order of the attachment number. For example, you would put Attachment 4 after Attachment 3. You then need to number the pages of all the attachments in order, starting with page 4 (because the actual form is 3 pages long).

Your reply brief, including the form and any attachments, may be no longer than 25 pages.

6 Completing the caption (the top part of the form)

Name of the parties on appeal. At the top left of the form, fill out the name of each party appealing the trial court's decision and the name of each party who is a respondent in the appeal.

Appellate division case number. When you filed the notice of appeal in your case, the clerk gave the appeal a case number. You can find this number on the notice of briefing schedule or another document about your case sent to you by the clerk of the appellate division. Write that number in the box entitled "Appellate Division Case Number."

Trial court case number and trial court judicial officer. Write the case number your case had in the trial court here. You can find this number on any court order from the trial court. Also write the name of the trial court judge or other judicial officer who made the decision you are appealing.

7 Completing item 1, "Information About the Appellant"

In item 1a, type your name. If you are a lawyer filling this out for your client, type your name, State Bar number, and the name of your law firm.

In item 1b, type your address and contact information if you do not have a lawyer. If you are a lawyer filling out this form for your client, write your office address, telephone number, fax number (if applicable), and email address.

8 Completing item 2, "Replying to Respondent's Arguments"

Item 2 is your opportunity to reply to the responses made by the respondent in the respondent's brief.

Form APP-202 has items for you to reply to the respondent's first two arguments. If the respondent's brief contained more than two arguments, check the box at item 2c, and reply to the other arguments on a separate piece of paper labeled "Attachment 2c" at the top of the page.

For each reply, begin by briefly describing the respondent's argument to which you are replying. Then, give your reply explaining why the respondent's arguments are incorrect. Your reply brief should not simply repeat the arguments you made in the opening brief. Instead, your reply arguments can do the following:

- Address legal issues and arguments made in the respondent's brief.
- Show the appellate division how the respondent did not successfully address the legal issues made in the appellant's opening brief.
- Address new legal authorities (cases, statutes, or constitutional provisions) included in the respondent's brief.

For each of your reply arguments, you must clearly identify the following:

- The places in the record on appeal where the facts that support your argument can be found.
- The law that supports your argument. This can take the form of statutes, court opinions, court rules, constitutional provisions, or other legal authority. You may find law that supports your appeal mentioned in the documents filed by the parties in the trial court or in the trial court's decisions.

9 Serving and Filing Your Brief

After you have completed your brief, make copies of the brief (with all attachments) for your records, each of the other parties in the case, and the trial court.

Serve a copy of the completed form (with all attachments) on each of the other parties and the trial court, and keep proof of this service. There are two forms you may use to show proof of service:

- Proof of Service (form APP-109); or
- Proof of Electronic Service (form APP-109E).

You can get more information about how to serve court papers and proof of service from What is Proof of Service (form APP-109-INFO) and on the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts website at www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp-serving.htm.

After you have served copies of the brief on the other parties and the trial court, file the original brief and all attachments, along with the proof of service, with the appellate division.

- This form is for use as the appellant's reply brief in a limited civil case appeal only. Do not use this form if this is a criminal case, this is an unlimited civil case, or there is a cross-appeal in this case.
- Before you fill in this form, review How to Use Form APP-202 in Limited Civil Cases (form APP-202-INFO). You can get form APP-202-INFO at any courthouse or county law library or online at www.courts.ca.gov/forms.
- You may attach additional pages as needed when answering an item by checking the box that states there is not enough space. These additional pages must meet the formatting requirements of California Rules of Court, rule 8.883\(c\). Your brief cannot be longer than 25 pages, including this form and any additional pages used to complete your answers.
- Fill out this brief and make a copy for each of the other parties and the trial court. Serve a copy of the completed form on each of the other parties and the trial court and keep proof of this service. Proof of Service (form APP-109) or Proof of Electronic Service (form APP-109E) can be used to make this record. You can get information about how to serve court papers and proof of service from What Is Proof of Service? (form APP-109-INFO) and on the Self-Help Guide to the California Courts website at www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp-serving.htm.
- Take or mail the completed form and proof of service on the other parties to the appellate division clerk's office. It is a good idea to take or mail an extra copy to the clerk and ask the clerk to stamp it to show that the original has been filed.

INFORMATION SHEET ON WAIVER OF APPELLATE COURT FEES— SUPREME COURT, COURT OF APPEAL, APPELLATE DIVISION

If you file an appeal, a petition for a writ, or a petition for review in a civil case, such as a family law case or a case in which you sued someone or someone sued you, you must generally pay a filing fee to the court. If you are a party other than the party who filed the appeal or the petition, you must also generally pay a fee when you file your first document in a case in the Court of Appeal or Supreme Court. You and the other parties in the case may also have to pay other court fees in these proceedings, such as fees to prepare or get a copy of a clerk's transcript in an appeal. However, if you cannot afford to pay these court fees and costs, you may ask the court to issue an order saying you do not have to pay these fees (this is called "waiving" these fees).

1. Who can get their court fees waived? The court will waive your court fees and costs if:

- You are getting public assistance, such as Medi-Cal; Food Stamps; Supplemental Security Income (not Social Security); State Supplemental Payment; County Relief/General Assistance; In-Home Supportive Services; CalWORKS; Tribal Temporary Assistance for Needy Families; Cash Assistance Program for Aged, Blind, and Disabled; Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC Program); or unemployment compensation.
- You have a low income level. Under the law you are considered a low-income person if the gross monthly income (before deductions for taxes) of your household is less than the amount listed below:

Family Size	Family Income	Family Size	Family Income	Family Size	Family Income
1	$2,608.33	3	$4,441.67	5	$6,275.00
2	$3,525.00	4	$5,358.33	6	$7,191.67

If more than 6 people at home, add $916.67 for each extra person.

- You do not have enough income to pay for your household's basic needs and your court fees.

2. What fees and costs will the court waive? If you qualify for a fee waiver, the Supreme Court, Court of Appeal, or Appellate Division will waive the filing fee for the notice of appeal, a petition for a writ, a petition for review, or the first document filed by a party other than the party who filed the appeal or petition, and any court fee for participating in oral argument by telephone. The trial court will also waive costs related to the clerk's transcript on appeal, the fee for the court to hold in trust the deposit for a reporter's transcript on appeal under rule 8.130(b) or rule 8.834(b) of the California Rules of Court, and the fees for making a transcript or copy of an official electronic recording under rule 8.835. If you are the appellant (the person who is appealing the trial court decision), the fees waived include the deposit required under Government Code section 68926.1 and the costs for preparing and certifying the clerk's transcript and sending the original to the reviewing court and one copy to you. If you are the respondent (a party other than the appellant in a case that is being appealed), the fees waived include the costs for sending you a copy of the clerk's transcript. You can also ask the trial court to waive other necessary court fees and costs.

The court cannot waive the fees for preparing a reporter's transcript in a civil case. A special fund, called the Transcript Reimbursement Fund, may help pay for the transcript. (See www.courtreportersboard.ca.gov/consumers/index.shtml#trf and Business and Professions Code sections 8030.2 and following for more information about this fund.) If you are unable to pay the cost of a reporter's transcript, a record of the oral proceedings can be prepared in other ways, by preparing an agreed statement or, in some circumstances, a statement on appeal or settled statement.

3. How do I ask the court to waive my fees?

- Appeal in Limited Civil Case (civil case in which the amount of money claimed is $35,000 or less). In a limited civil case, if the trial court already issued an order waiving your court fees and that fee waiver has not ended (fee waivers automatically end 60 days after the judgment), the fees and costs identified in item 2 above are already waived; just give the court a copy of your current fee waiver. If you do not already have an order waiving your fees or you had a fee waiver but it has ended, you must complete and file a Request to Waive Court Fees (form FW-001). If you are the appellant (the party who is appealing), you should check both boxes in item 4 on FW-001 and file the completed form with your notice of appeal. If you are the respondent (a party other than the appellant in a case that is being appealed), the completed form should be filed in the court when the fees you are requesting to be waived, such as the fee for the clerk's transcript or telephonic oral argument, are due.

- Writ Proceeding in Limited Civil Case (civil case in which the amount of money claimed is $35,000 or less). If you want the Superior Court to waive the fees in a writ proceeding in a limited civil case, you must complete a Request to Waive Court Fees (form FW-001). In item 4 on FW-001, check the second box. The completed form should be filed with your petition for a writ.
- If You Are a Guardian or Conservator. If you are a guardian or conservator or a petitioner for the appointment of a guardian or conservator, special rules apply to your request for a fee waiver on an appeal from an order in the guardianship or conservatorship proceeding or in a civil action in which you are a party acting on behalf of your ward or conservatee. Complete and submit a Request to Waive Court Fees (Ward or Conservatee) (form FW-001-GC) to request a fee waiver. See California Rules of Court, rule 7.5.
- Appeal in Other Civil Cases. If you want the court to waive fees and costs in an appeal in a civil case other than a limited civil case, such as a family law case or an unlimited civil case (a civil case in which the amount of money claimed is more than $35,000), you must complete a Request to Waive Court Fees (form FW-001). In item 4 on FW-001, check the second box to ask the Court of Appeal to waive the fee for filing the notice of appeal or, if you are a respondent (a party other than the one who filed the appeal), the fee for the first document you file in the Court of Appeal. Check both boxes if you also want the trial court to waive your costs for the clerk's transcript (if the trial court already issued an order waiving your fees and that fee waiver has not ended, you do not need to check the first box; the fees and costs identified in item 2 above are already waived, just give the court a copy of your current fee waiver). If you are the appellant, the completed form should be submitted with your notice of appeal (if you check both boxes in item 4, the court may ask for two signed copies of this form). If you are the respondent, the completed form should be submitted at the time the fee you are asking the court to waive is due. For example, file the form in the trial court with your request for a copy of the clerk's transcript if you are asking the court to waive the transcript fee or file the form in the Court of Appeal with the first document you file in that court if you are asking the court to waive the fee for filing that document. To request waiver of a court fee for telephonic oral argument, you should file the completed form in the Court of Appeal when the fee for telephonic oral argument is due.
- Writ Proceeding in Other Civil Cases. If you want the Supreme Court or Court of Appeal to waive the fees and costs in a writ proceeding in a civil case other than a limited civil case, such as a family law case or an unlimited civil case (a civil case in which the amount of money claimed is more than $35,000), you must complete a Request to Waive Court Fees (form FW-001). If you are the petitioner (the party filing the petition), the completed form should be submitted with your petition for a writ in the Supreme Court or Court of Appeal clerk's office. If you are a party other than the petitioner, the completed form should be filed with the first document you file in the Supreme Court or Court of Appeal.
- Petition for Review. If you want to request that the Supreme Court waive the fees in a petition for review proceeding, you must complete a Request to Waive Court Fees (form FW-001) or a Request to Waive Court Fees (Ward or Conservatee) (form FW-001-GC). If you are the petitioner, you should submit the completed form with your petition for review. If you are a party other than the petitioner, the completed form should be filed with the first document you file in the Supreme Court.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION!

- Fill out your request completely and truthfully. When you sign your request for a fee waiver, you are declaring under penalty of perjury that the information you have provided is true and correct.
- The court may ask you for information and evidence. You may be ordered to go to court to answer questions about your ability to pay court fees and costs and to provide proof of eligibility. Any initial fee waiver you are granted may be ended if you do not go to court when asked. You may be ordered to repay amounts that were waived if the court finds you were not eligible for the fee waiver.
- If you receive a fee waiver, you must tell the court if there is a change in your finances. You must tell the court immediately if your finances improve or if you become able to pay court fees or costs during this case (file form FW-010 with the court). You may be ordered to repay any amounts that were waived after your eligibility ended. If the trial court waived your fees and costs and you settle your case for $10,000 or more, the trial court will have a lien on the settlement in the amount of the waived fees.
- The fee waiver ends. The fee waiver expires 60 days after the judgment, dismissal, or other final disposition of the case or when the court finds that you are not eligible for a fee waiver.
